

TABLE OF CONTENTS

|      |                                                                                                                                                                           |    |
|------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| I.   | INTRODUCTION .....                                                                                                                                                        | 1  |
| II.  | PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND .....                                                                                                                                               | 3  |
| III. | LEGAL ARGUMENT .....                                                                                                                                                      | 5  |
| A.   | PLAINTIFF IS NOT ENTITLED TO PRELIMINARY INJUNCTIVERELIEF. ....                                                                                                       | 5  |
| 1.   | Plaintiff Cannot Establish Irreparable Harm WhereMoney Damages Would Fully Compensate Him. ....                                                                       | 5  |
| 2.   | Because The Shares At Issue Will Not Vest Until NextYear (At The Earliest) There Is No Threat OfImminent Harm. ....                                               | 8  |
| 3.   | The Forfeiture Provisions Are Enforceable And ThusPlaintiff Cannot Show He Is Likely To Succeed On TheMerits. ....                                                | 9  |
| a.   | If California Law Applies, Plaintiff Cannot ShowThe Likelihood Of Success On The Merits. ....                                                                         | 9  |
| b.   | Delaware Law Applies To The Agreements AndUnder Delaware Law The Agreements AreEnforceable. ....                                                                  | 10 |
| B.   | PLAINTIFF IS MERELY ATTEMPTING TO GAIN A TACTICALADVANTAGE IN ARBITRATION BY SEEKING A PRELIMINARYDETERMINATION ON THE MERITS OF HIS CLAIM IN THISCOURT. .... | 11 |
| IV.  | CONCLUSION .....                                                                                                                                                          | 12 |

TABLE OF AUTHORITIES

Cases

|                                                                                                          |       |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| Bajorek v. Int'l Bus. Machines Corp.,191 F.3d 1033 (9th Cir. 1999).....                       | 2, 9  |
| Borey v. Nat'l Union Fire Ins. Co. of Pitt., Penn.,934 F.2d 30 (2d Cir. 1991) .....           | 6     |
| Boughton v. Socony Mobil Oil Co.,231 Cal. App. 2d 188 (1964).....                             | 9     |
| Caribbean Marine Serv. Co., Inc. v. Baldrige,844 F.2d 668 (9th Cir. 1988).....                | 5, 8  |
| Faw, Casson &amp; Co. v. Cranston,Del.Ch., 375 A.2d 463 (1977) .....                          | 10    |
| Freedom Holdings, Inc. v. Spitzer,408 F.3d 112 (2nd Cir. 2005) .....                          | 6     |
| Gilder v. PGA Tour, Inc.,936 F.2d 417 (9th Cir. 1991).....                                    | 7, 8  |
| In re Estate of Ferdinand Marcos, Human Rights Litig.,25 F. 3d 1467 (9th Cir. 1994).....      | 7     |
| In Re Series 7 Broker Qualification Exam Litigation,510 F.Supp. 2d 35 (D.D.C. 2007) .....     | 3     |
| Los Angeles Mem'l Coliseum Comm'n v. Nat'l Football League,634 F.2d 1197 (9th Cir. 1980)..... | 6     |
| Lydo Enter., Inc. v. City of Las Vegas,745 F.2d 1211 9th Cir. 1984).....                      | 6, 11 |
| Manhattan Cable Telev., Inc. v. Cable Doctor, Inc.,824 F. Supp. 34 (S.D.N.Y. 1993).....       | 6     |
| Mazurek v. Armstrong,520 U.S. 968 (1997).....                                                 | 5     |
| McCann Surveyors, Inc. v. Evans,611 A.2d 1 (Del. Ch. 1969) .....                              | 10    |
| Midgett v. Tri-County Metro. Transp. Dist. of Oregon,254 F.3d 846 (9th Cir. 2001).....        | 8     |
| Nedlloyd Lines B.V. v. Superior Court,3 Cal. 4th 459 (1992).....                              | 10    |
| Roesgen v. Amer. Home Prod. Corp.,719 F.2d 319 (9th Cir. 1983).....                           | 10    |

|    |                                                                          |      |
|----|--------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| 1  | Sampson v. Murray,                                                |      |
| 2  | 415 U.S. 61 (1974) .....                                                 | 6    |
| 3  | Siegel v. LePore,                                                 |      |
| 4  | 234 F.3d 1163 (11th Cir. 2000) .....                                     | 6    |
| 5  | Simula, Inc. v. Autoliv, Inc.,                                    |      |
| 6  | 175 F.3d 716 (9th Cir. 1999) .....                                       | 5    |
| 7  | Stuhlbarg Int'l Sales Co., Inc. v. John D. Brush &amp; Co., Inc., |      |
| 8  | 240 F.3d 832 (9th Cir. 2001) .....                                       | 5    |
| 9  | Treasure Valley Potato Bargaining Assoc. v. Ore-Ida Foods, Inc.,  |      |
| 10 | 497 F. 2d 203 (9th Cir. 1974) .....                                      | 8    |
| 11 | Tucker Anthony Realty Corp. v. Schlesinger,                       |      |
| 12 | 888 F.2d 969 (2d Cir. 1989) .....                                        | 7    |
| 13 | Virginia Petroleum Jobbers Ass'n v. Fed. Power Comm'n,            |      |
| 14 | 259 F.2d 921 (D.C. Cir. 1958) .....                                      | 6    |
| 15 | Statutes                                                          |      |
| 16 | Business and Professions Code Section 16600 .....                        | 9    |
| 17 | RESTATEMENT (SECOND) OF CONFLICTS OF LAWS § 187 (1971) .....             | 10   |
| 18 | Rules                                                             |      |
| 19 | FINRA's Rules of Arbitration .....                                       | 2    |
| 20 | FINRA Rule 13804 .....                                                   | 3, 4 |

1 Defendant PIPER JAFFRAY & CO. ("Defendant" or "Piper Jaffray") hereby
 2 submits this Opposition to Plaintiff's Motion for Preliminary Injunction ("Motion").

3 I.

4 INTRODUCTION

5 During his employment with Piper Jaffray, Plaintiff CHARLES JASON
 6 MORAN ("Plaintiff" or "Mr. Moran") participated in Piper Jaffray's Long Term Incentive
 7 Plan (the "Plan"). In doing so, he knowingly and willingly agreed to the provisions
 8 governing the Plan, including, but not limited to, the forfeiture provisions relating to the 9 contingent interests in restricted stock he was granted. Under the terms of the Plan, 10 employees receive a portion of their compensation in the form of contingent interests in 11 restricted stock and/or stock options. These awards vest over a three-year period and 12 are designed to serve as an incentive to motivate and retain employees. By the clear 13 terms of the plan, they are contingent upon continued employment with the company.
 14 Indeed, the Restricted Stock Agreements executed by Plaintiff (the "Agreements") 15 explicitly state that "if the Employee remains continuously employed ... by the 16 Company or an Affiliate, then the Restricted Shares will vest in the numbers and on 17 the dates specified in the Vesting Schedule at the beginning of this Agreement."
 18 (emphasis added) (see, Dkt. 20, Section 2(a) of Exhibits "A", "B" and "C" attached to 19 Plaintiff's First Amended Complaint for Declaratory Relief ("FAC").) As was clearly 20 explained in writing to Piper Jaffray employees who participated in the Plan, they had 21 no vested right or entitlement to any such awards unless and until the expiration of the 22 vesting period. Plaintiff accepted his award with a clear understanding of the vesting
 23 and forfeiture provisions.

24 Plaintiff signed three separate Restricted Stock Agreements. Per the first 25 Agreement, the shares do not vest until February 21, 2009. (See, Dkt. 20, Plaintiff's
 26 FAC and Exhibit "A", page 1, attached thereto.) Per the second Agreement, the shares 27 do not vest until February 15, 2010. (See, Dkt. 20, Plaintiff's FAC and Exhibit "B", 28 page 1, attached thereto.) Per the third Agreement, the shares do not vest until

1 May 15, 2011. (See, Dkt. 20, Plaintiff's FAC and Exhibit "C", page 1, attached thereto.)
 2 Plaintiff's employment ended on April 14, 2008 – before any of the vesting dates.
 3 Although clearly entitled under the explicit terms of the Agreements, Piper Jaffray has 4 not yet cancelled any of Plaintiff's restricted stock.

5 Plaintiff now requests that this Court enjoin Piper Jaffray from cancelling
 6 his contingent interests in restricted stock, arguing that, under California law, the 7 Agreements' provisions are void. However, Plaintiff is not entitled to the extraordinary 8 relief he requests for at least the following reasons.

9 First, because money damages would fully compensate him for any of his 10 alleged losses, Plaintiff cannot establish that he will be irreparably harmed without 11 injunctive relief.

12 Second, because the shares will not vest until next year, at the earliest,
 13 there is no threat of imminent harm.

14 Third, Plaintiff cannot show that he is likely to succeed on the merits of his 15 claim. The Agreements are enforceable under prevailing Ninth Circuit authority. See, 16 Bajorek v. Int'l Bus. Machines Corp., 191 F.3d 1033 (9th Cir. 1999). Further, the 17 Agreements contain a Delaware choice of law provision and, under Delaware law,
 18 provisions such as those contained in the Agreements are enforceable.

19 Fourth, as fully set forth in Defendant's (1) Petition to Compel Arbitration
 20 and (2) Motion to Stay Proceedings ("Petition") and Reply Brief in Support of Petition,
 21 (see, Dkt. 6 & 30), all of Plaintiff's claims (including his claim for preliminary injunctive
 22 relief) should be compelled to Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA")
 23 binding arbitration. Plaintiff signed a Form U-4 Uniform Application For Securities
 24 Industry Registration or Transfer ("Form U-4") containing an admittedly enforceable
 25 arbitration agreement<sup>1</sup> that governs all of the claims in his Motion and Complaint for

26 <sup>1</sup> The arbitration clause is contained in the Form U-4's signed by Plaintiff. By reference, it incorporates 27 the FINRA's Rules of Arbitration. This brief will refer to the Form U-4 arbitration clause and the 28 incorporated FINRA Rules of Arbitration together as the "arbitration agreement."

1 Declaratory Relief. (See, Dkt. 7, Form U-4 attached to the Declaration of Ann McCague
 2 in Support of Defendant's Petition ("McCague Decl.") as Exhibit "1"). Plaintiff's sole
 3 argument in opposing Defendant's Petition is that FINRA Rule 13804 permits him to 4 seek preliminary injunctive relief in this Court. (See, Dkt. 25, Plaintiff's Opposition to 5 Defendant's Petition.) Although FINRA Rule 13804 requires it, Plaintiff's Statement of 6 Claim ("SOC"), filed with FINRA, fails to request permanent injunctive relief. Plaintiff's
 7 attempt to circumvent his admittedly binding arbitration agreement by relying on a
 8 Rule with which he did not comply constitutes another basis to deny his request.

9 For these reasons, Piper Jaffray respectfully requests that Plaintiff's
 10 Motion be denied.

11 II.

12 PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

13
 14 On December 14, 1999, Plaintiff executed a Form U-4 which is required to 15 be executed by every broker who joins a member firm of FINRA (formerly known as the 16 New York Stock Exchange ("NYSE") and National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc.
 17 ("NASD").<sup>2</sup> (See, Dkt. 7, Form U-4 attached to the McCague Decl. as Exhibit "1.") By 18 executing this Form U-4, and pursuant to applicable law, Plaintiff agreed to arbitrate
 19 any dispute which arose between him and Defendant.

20 Despite this binding arbitration agreement, on June 19, 2008, Plaintiff filed
 21 his Complaint for Declaratory Relief and Motion in California state court against Piper
 22 Jaffray. In his Motion, Plaintiff requested that the Court enjoin Piper Jaffray from 23 enforcing the forfeiture provision in Restricted Stock Agreements he signed.

24 On June 2, 2008, Defendant filed its Notice of Removal, removing the case
 25 to this Court. (See, Dkt. 1.) The following day, Defendant filed its Petition. (See,

26
 27 <sup>2</sup> On July 30, 2007, the NASD and the NYSE consolidated their regulatory functions and changed their 28 names jointly to FINRA. See, In Re Series 7 Broker Qualification Exam Litigation, 510 F.Supp. 2d 35, 36
 n.1 (D.D.C. 2007).

1 Dkt. 5.) On July 15, 2008 (nearly two weeks after Defendant filed its Petition), Plaintiff
2 filed a SOC against Piper Jaffray with FINRA, implicitly recognizing that his claims are 3 the subject of a binding arbitration agreement. Piper Jaffray's counsel received
4 Plaintiff's SOC on July 16, 2008. (See, Dkt. 31, Supplemental Declaration of Anne
5 Moriarty in Support of Petition ("Supp. Moriarty Decl."), ¶ 5.) In the SOC, Plaintiff
6 alleges, among other things, a cause of action for Declaratory Relief. (See, Dkt. 31,
7 Plaintiff's SOC attached to the Supp. Moriarty Decl. as Exhibit "1".) Plaintiff's
8 Declaratory Relief cause of action relates to this Motion in that it seeks a determination
9 from the Arbitrators that the forfeiture provision of the above-mentioned Agreements
10 are unenforceable under California law. (See, Dkt. 31, Plaintiff's SOC, ¶ 57 attached to 11 the Supp. Moriarty Decl. as Exhibit "1".) Although Plaintiff informed FINRA that he 12 had moved for a preliminary injunction pursuant to FINRA Rule 13804 in state court
13 and that the case has been removed, Plaintiff's SOC failed to request permanent 14 injunctive relief from the FINRA Arbitrators. (See, Dkt. 31, Plaintiff's SOC, ¶ 38 and 15 prayer for relief pgs. 11-12, attached to the Supp. Moriarty Decl. as Exhibit "1".)

16 On July 17, 2008, Plaintiff then re-filed his Motion in this Court asserting 17 essentially the same arguments as his state court preliminary injunction motion. (See, 18 Dkt. 22.) Plaintiff again alleges that if Piper Jaffray enforces the forfeiture provisions, 19 he "stands to lose approximately $392,800 worth of stock". (See, Plaintiff's Motion,
20 pg. 11, ll. 2-3 and Declaration of Charles Moran in Support of Motion For Preliminary 21 Injunction ("Moran Decl."), ¶ 3.) The hearing on Plaintiff's Motion is set for October 10,
22 2008—nearly four months after Plaintiff initially requested injunctive relief in state
23 court.

1 III.

2 LEGAL ARGUMENT

3 A. PLAINTIFF IS NOT ENTITLED TO PRELIMINARY INJUNCTIVE
 4 RELIEF.

5 The United States Supreme Court recognizes that a preliminary injunction
 6 is “an extraordinary and drastic remedy.” Mazurek v. Armstrong, 520 U.S. 968, 972
 7 (1997). A preliminary injunction may be issued only if the moving party can establish 8 (1) the likelihood of success on the merits and a significant threat of irreparable injury or 9 (2) that serious questions are raised and the balance of hardships tips sharply in favor of 10 the movant. Stuhlbarg Int’l Sales Co., Inc. v. John D. Brush & Co., Inc., 240 F.3d 832,
 11 839 (9th Cir. 2001). Further, Plaintiff “must demonstrate immediate threatened harm
 12 as a prerequisite to injunctive relief.” Caribbean Marine Serv. Co., Inc. v. Baldridge, 844
 13 F.2d 668, 674 (9th Cir. 1988) (emphasis in original).

14 Plaintiff argues that the Court should grant his Motion because there is a 15 (1) possibility of irreparable injury without a preliminary injunction and (2) very high 16 likelihood of success on the merits of his claim that the forfeiture provisions of the 17 Agreements are unenforceable. (See, Plaintiff’s Motion, pg. 4, ll. 5-7.) As discussed
 18 below, Plaintiff cannot establish either prong of this test. In addition, Plaintiff cannot 19 establish that the threat of purported harm is immediate. Thus, Piper Jaffray
 20 respectfully requests that Plaintiff’s Motion be denied.

21 1. Plaintiff Cannot Establish Irreparable Harm Where Money
 22 Damages Would Fully Compensate Him.

23 Unless Congress provides otherwise, a preliminary injunction “may only be 24 granted when the moving party has demonstrated a significant threat of irreparable
 25 injury, irrespective of the magnitude of the injury.” Simula, Inc. v. Autoliv, Inc., 175 F.3d
 26 716, 725 (9th Cir. 1999). Significantly, “even if Plaintiffs establish a likelihood of success 27 on the merits, the absence of a substantial likelihood of irreparable injury would,
 28 standing alone, make preliminary injunctive relief improper.” Siegel v. LePore, 234 F.3d

1 1163, 1176 (11th Cir. 2000) (emphasis added); see, also, Freedom Holdings, Inc. v.
 2 Spitzer, 408 F.3d 112, 114 (2nd Cir. 2005) [irreparable injury is “the single most 3 important prerequisite for the issuance of a preliminary injunction”.]

4 Monetary injury is not normally considered irreparable damage for the 5 purpose of ruling on a preliminary injunction. Los Angeles Mem’l Coliseum Comm’n v.
 6 Nat’l Football League, 634 F.2d 1197, 1202 (9th Cir. 1980). In Nat’l Football League,
 7 preliminary relief was properly denied because the alleged harm – lost revenues,
 8 diminution of property value and loss of substantial goodwill – could all be remedied by 9 a monetary award. Id.

10 In Sampson v. Murray, 415 U.S. 61, 90 (1974), quoting, Virginia Petroleum
 11 Jobbers Ass’n v. Fed. Power Comm’n, 259 F.2d 921, 925 (D.C. Cir. 1958), the court
 12 stated: “Mere injuries, however substantial, in terms of money, time and energy
 13 necessarily expended ... are not enough. The possibility that adequate compensatory or 14 other corrective relief will be available at a later date, in the ordinary course of 15 litigation, weighs heavily against a claim of irreparable harm.” The court further stated 16 that absent a “genuinely extraordinary situation,” a wrongfully discharged employee's
 17 lost income and damaged reputation do not constitute irreparable injury. Id.

18 Likewise, in Lydo Enter., Inc. v. City of Las Vegas, 745 F.2d 1211,
 19 1213 (9th Cir. 1984), the Ninth Circuit reversed the District Court’s issuance of a 20 preliminary injunction where (as here) the Plaintiff had alleged purely monetary 21 injuries. Because the alleged loss was calculable and compensable by an award of 22 damages if the Plaintiff ultimately prevailed, a preliminary injunction was held to be 23 improper. Id. Other jurisdictions are in accord. See, e.g., Manhattan Cable Telev., Inc.
 24 v. Cable Doctor, Inc., 824 F. Supp. 34, 38 (S.D.N.Y. 1993) [“The possibility of monetary 25 loss does not present a risk of irreparable harm.”]; accord, Borey v. Nat’l Union Fire Ins.
 26 Co. of Pitt., Penn., 934 F.2d 30, 34-35 (2d Cir. 1991) [“Monetary loss alone will generally
 27 not amount to irreparable harm.”]; Tucker Anthony Realty Corp. v. Schlesinger, 888
 28

1 F.2d 969, 975 (2d Cir. 1989) ["A monetary loss will not suffice unless the movant
2 provides evidence of damage that cannot be rectified by financial compensation."]

3 If Piper Jaffray cancels Plaintiff's contingent interests in restricted shares
4 of stock, the amount of damages Plaintiff will purportedly suffer is easily quantifiable.
5 In fact, Plaintiff himself readily computes the value of his claim as a monetary figure:
6 "Plaintiff stands to lose approximately $392,800 worth of stock if Defendant cancels his 7 shares." (See, Plaintiff's Motion, pg. 11, ll. 2-3; Moran Decl., ¶ 3.) Thus, Plaintiff cannot 8 establish that the harm he alleges he will suffer is irreparable.

9 Plaintiff's meritless assertion that without a preliminary injunction he will 10 lose tax and/or timing advantages inherent in stock ownership and that these damages
11 cannot be rectified by financial compensation are wholly unsupported by any evidence.
12 Plaintiff's self-serving declaration that he "believes" that Piper Jaffray's stock is trading
13 at a low price does not support the claim that Plaintiff's purported damages defy 14 calculation. (See, Moran Decl., ¶ 5.) The only other evidence Plaintiff offers is a print-
15 out from Yahoo! Finance showing the range of Piper Jaffray's stock price over the last 16 four years. (See, Declaration of Matthew Helland in Support of Motion, ¶ 4 and 17 Exhibit "2" attached thereto.) The fact that Piper Jaffray's stock price has fluctuated
18 does not mean that Plaintiff's claim is unquantifiable or immeasurable.

19 Plaintiff's position is also unsupported by the case law he cites in his 20 Motion. For example, Plaintiff cites In re Estate of Ferdinand Marcos, Human Rights
21 Litig., 25 F. 3d 1467, 1469 (9th Cir. 1994). There, the court addressed the question of 22 whether a preliminary injunction should be available due to the impending insolvency of 23 the defendant or when the defendant has engaged in a pattern of dissipating assets to 24 avoid judgment. Id. at 1480. Plaintiff has presented no evidence establishing that 25 Piper Jaffray is at risk of insolvency or dissipating assets. Thus, the Marcos case is 26 inapplicable.

27 Similarly, Plaintiff's reliance on Gilder v. PGA Tour, Inc., 936 F.2d 417, 423
28 (9th Cir. 1991), is misplaced. There, eight professional golfers who used golf clubs with

1 U-shaped groves and the manufacturing company sought a preliminary injunction
 2 enjoining the implementation of a PGA Tour rule banning the clubs. Id. at 418. The 3 district court issued a preliminary injunction, finding that the professionals would be 4 irreparably harmed if they were forced to change clubs because they would be at a
 5 competitive disadvantage. Id. at 423. The Court of Appeals affirmed, in part, because 6 the harm—competitive disadvantage—defied calculation. Id. A golfer's competitive 7 disadvantage, which is clearly difficult to quantify, is simply incomparable to the 8 purported tax advantages of holding stock.

9 Finally, Plaintiff cites Treasure Valley Potato Bargaining Assoc. v. Ore-Ida
 10 Foods, Inc., 497 F. 2d 203, 218 (9th Cir. 1974). There, the court held that potato
 11 producers were not entitled to an injunction against potato growers' bargaining
 12 associations, which allegedly violated antitrust laws. Id. The court found that, not only 13 was the proffered evidence of past damages based on conjecture and speculation, but 14 that the very existence of any further threat of injury was speculative and conjectural.
 15 Id.

16 Following discovery and an arbitration hearing, in the unlikely event
 17 Plaintiff prevails on his claim, he can be fully compensated by an arbitration panel with 18 a money damage award. Thus, Plaintiff cannot establish irreparable harm and his 19 Motion should be denied on this basis alone.

20 2. Because The Shares At Issue Will Not Vest Until Next Year (At 21 The Earliest) There Is No Threat Of Imminent Harm.

22 Plaintiff "must demonstrate immediate threatened harm as a prerequisite 23 to injunctive relief." Caribbean Marine Serv. Co., Inc. v. Baldrige, 844 F.2d 668, 674
 24 (9th Cir. 1988) (emphasis in original). Establishing a risk of irreparable harm in the 25 indefinite future is not enough. The harm must be shown to be imminent. Midgett v.
 26 Tri-County Metro. Transp. Dist. of Oregon, 254 F.3d 846, 850–851 (9th Cir. 2001).

27 Plaintiff signed three separate Restricted Stock Agreements. Per the 28 Agreements, the earliest Plaintiff's contingent interest in Piper Jaffray's restricted stock

1 will vest is next year (February 21, 2009). The latest Plaintiff's contingent interest will 2 vest is May 15, 2011—over two years from now. Even if Piper Jaffray canceled the 3 shares, Plaintiff would not be damaged until those shares were to vest. Plaintiff himself
 4 recognizes this fact: "I will realize ordinary income from these shares when they vest."
 5 (See, Moran Decl., ¶ 4.) Given that Plaintiff's shares are not scheduled to vest until 6 next year at the earliest, his contention that he will suffer great hardship if a 7 preliminary injunction is not issued now rings hollow. Accordingly, Plaintiff cannot 8 demonstrate immediate threatened harm and his Motion should be denied.

9                   3. The Forfeiture Provisions Are Enforceable And Thus Plaintiff
 10                   Cannot Show He Is Likely To Succeed On The Merits.

11                   The second prong of the Preliminary Injunction analysis requires Plaintiff
 12 to demonstrate that he is likely to succeed on the merits of his claim. Plaintiff cannot 13 meet this requirement for two reasons. First, Plaintiff cannot show he is likely to 14 succeed on the merits where the Ninth Circuit, applying California law, has held similar 15 agreements to be enforceable. Second, Delaware law applies to the Agreements 16 pursuant to a choice-of-law provision. Under Delaware law, the Agreements are fully 17 enforceable.

18                   a. If California Law Applies, Plaintiff Cannot Show The 19                   Likelihood Of Success On The Merits.

20                   Plaintiff cannot establish, under California law, that it is likely that the 21 Arbitrators will ultimately determine that the forfeiture provisions in the agreements
 22 are void. Similar agreements have been upheld by the 9th Circuit applying California
 23 law. See, Bajorek v. Int'l Bus. Machines Corp., 191 F.3d 1033, 1041 (9th Cir. 1999).<sup>3</sup>
 24 Business and Professions Code Section 16600 does not make all restrictions on 25 competition unenforceable. Id. at 1040, citing, Boughton v. Socony Mobil Oil Co., 231

26 <sup>3</sup> On the day of this filing, the California Supreme Court issued its decision in Edwards v. Arthur
 27 Andersen, Civil Docket No. S147190 (August 7, 2008). In its decision, the Court was critical of the holding 28 of Bajorek. Although counsel for Defendant has not had time to fully review this decision, the Edwards holding may impact this case. If the Court so requests, Defendant would be willing to submit further briefing on this issue.

1 Cal. App. 2d 188 (1964). Accordingly, under California law, Plaintiff cannot establish 2 the likelihood of success on the merits.

3
4 b. Delaware Law Applies To The Agreements And Under
5 Delaware Law The Agreements Are Enforceable.

6 Piper Jaffray is incorporated in Delaware and the choice of law clause in 7 the Restricted Stock Agreements at issue calls for the application of Delaware law. (See,
8 Dkt. 20, Section 11 of Exhibits "A", "B" and "C" attached to Plaintiff's FAC.) In 9 determining the effect of choice of law provisions, California looks to the RESTATEMENT
10 (SECOND) OF CONFLICTS OF LAWS § 187 (1971), which presumptively applies the law
11 chosen by the parties. See Nedlloyd Lines B.V. v. Superior Court, 3 Cal. 4th 459, 462
12 (1992) (explaining that choice of law rules derived from California decisions and the 13 Restatement "reflect strong policy considerations favoring the enforcement of freely 14 negotiated choice-of-law clauses"). Courts sitting in California have rejected the 15 application of the limited exceptions to this presumption and have consistently 16 emphasized the fact that, if a substantial relationship exists among the state, the 17 transaction and the parties, the contractual selection of law should be upheld. Roesgen
18 v. Amer. Home Prod. Corp., 719 F.2d 319, 321 (9th Cir. 1983).

19 The parties chose Delaware law in their contract, and Plaintiff concedes
20 that Delaware has a substantial relationship to both the transaction and the parties.
21 Delaware courts routinely enforce agreements containing similar provisions as the 22 Agreements. In McCann Surveyors, Inc. v. Evans, 611 A.2d 1 (Del. Ch. 1969), a
23 Delaware court held that a covenant not to compete "was a valid term of defendant's
24 employment agreement." Id. at 4; see also Faw, Casson & Co. v. Cranston, Del.Ch., 375
25 A.2d 463, 469 (1977)[covenant not to compete enforceable]. Accordingly, Plaintiff cannot 26 and has not shown a likelihood of success on the merits under the law applicable to his 27 claim.

1        B. PLAINTIFF IS MERELY ATTEMPTING TO GAIN A TACTICAL
 2        ADVANTAGE IN ARBITRATION BY SEEKING A PRELIMINARY
 3        DETERMINATION ON THE MERITS OF HIS CLAIM IN THIS COURT.

4            “A preliminary injunction is sought upon the theory that there is an urgent
 5 need for speedy action to protect the plaintiff's rights. By sleeping on its rights a plaintiff
 6 demonstrates the lack of need for speedy action.” Lydo Enter., Inc. v. City of Las Vegas,
 7 745 F.2d 1211, 1213-14 (9th Cir. 1984) (citations omitted.) The hearing on Plaintiff's
 8 Motion is set for October 10, 2008—nearly four months after Plaintiff initially requested
 9 injunctive relief in state court. Plaintiff has not objected to this hearing date, nor has he 10 sought a Temporary Restraining Order seeking to maintain the status quo until the 11 hearing date.

12            Clearly, Plaintiff is not concerned with actually obtaining an injunction to 13 prevent immediate, irreparable harm. In fact, Plaintiff's delay demonstrates that the 14 alleged harm is neither immediate nor irreparable. Rather, Plaintiff seeks—without the 15 benefit of discovery or a hearing—to gain a tactical advantage by obtaining a 16 preliminary determination from this Court that he is likely to succeed on the merits of 17 his claim that he can bring with him to the Arbitration.

18            Plaintiff's contingent interests in restricted shares of Piper Jaffray's stock 19 are not scheduled to vest until next year at the earliest and thus he will not suffer any 20 immediate hardship if the preliminary injunction is not issued. In contrast, the grant of 21 a preliminary injunction will cause Defendant great hardship. It will suspend
 22 Defendant's right to cancel Plaintiff's stock pursuant to the Agreements at issue without 23 the benefit of any discovery or a hearing on the merits –interfering with Defendant's 24 right to contract.

25            As discussed above, preliminary injunctive relief is simply not appropriate 26 in this case. Further, as set forth fully in Defendant's Petition and Reply Brief in 27 Support of Petition (see, Dkt. 6 & 30), Plaintiff's claims (including his request for 28 preliminary injunctive relief) are the subject of a binding arbitration agreement.

1 The question of whether the non-compete provisions are enforceable should
2 be left to the Arbitrators.

3
4 IV.

5 CONCLUSION

6 For the reasons set forth herein, Defendant respectfully requests that Plaintiff's
7 Motion for Preliminary Injunction be denied.

8
9
10 DATED: August 7, 2008

_____
GORDON C. YOUNG
JULIE A. KOLE
ANNE MORIARTY
KEESAL, YOUNG & LOGAN
Attorneys for Defendant
PIPER JAFFRAY & CO.